SUBJECT: Weekly Activity Report #2

1. CIA Orientation at Defense Schools

As already reported in a separate memorandum, [] had lunch on 11 January with Lt. Col. Jack Singlaub, U.S.A., [] and now a student at the Air War College. Singlaub urged that CIA give an informative presentation at each of the senior, Defense schools and colleges in order that these officers be appropriately and accurately aware of CIA's peacetime and wartime functions and in order to offset the misinformation spread by a small minority of officers who are antagonistic to this Agency.

gram has been prepared.

9. Comments on the Army Special Forces Briefing

[] attended 13 and 14 January Army Special Forces briefing given in Central Building

25X1

On 14 January we received what was an effective public relations job of selling a Special Forces mission to other members of the Armed Forces. In the near future this presentation will be given in the Senior Colleges of the Department of Defense. The Army presentation was one-sided in that it made no effort to deal with CIA's responsibilities and capabilities in this field. This is one more reason why CIA should present its own briefing at the Senior Service Schools.
The second day's briefing on Army Psychological Warfare was presented at a very elementary level and I doubt if the content has any real value to CIA. [] will prepare a memorandum giving highlights of the first day's briefing and has arranged for copies of the script of the unconventional warfare presentation to be reproduced for OTR and the P M Staff.
